

<<.Natural History of >>

图书基本信息

书名：<<.Natural History of the British Isles 冰岛自然史>>

13位ISBN编号：9781405482981

10位ISBN编号：1405482982

出版时间：2003-12

出版时间：Parragon Book Service Ltd (2006年9月1日)

作者：Mike 著

页数：384

版权说明：本站所提供下载的PDF图书仅提供预览和简介，请支持正版图书。

更多资源请访问：<http://www.tushu007.com>

<<.Natural History of >>

内容概要

Each plant or creature is described in detail and given a potted history which is not only fascinating in itself but which also stimulates the reader to find out more. The authors, Mike and Peggy Briggs, set out to inform but also to spark the imagination and encourage people to observe and enjoy what often goes unnoticed and unexplored. Which tree saved the world from perpetual winter? Which weed is still used in hand cream? Why were spiders fed to the sick in ancient times and how can you rid your lawn of moles using wine bottles? All the answers are here, along with snippets of poetry, country recipes, useful cross-references and plenty of pointers to further discovery. From the young student researching schoolwork to the elderly 'armchair rambler who might have thought they knew it all, there is something engrossing, possibly astonishing and perhaps even alarming, for everyone. This book is a treasure trove for anyone with even the slightest curiosity about the species which surround mankind and in the diversity of life which is becoming threatened in so many parts of our crowded islands.

<<.Natural History of >>

书籍目录

Introduction
House, garden and park
Farmland, hedgerows and verges
Woods and forests
Heaths, downs, moors and mountains
Rivers, lakes, ponds and marshes
Sea and seashore
Acknowledgements
Bibliography
Index

<<.Natural History of >>

版权说明

本站所提供下载的PDF图书仅提供预览和简介, 请支持正版图书。

更多资源请访问:<http://www.tushu007.com>