章节摘录

Without proper planning, tourism can cause problems. For example, too many tourists can crowd public places that are also enjoyed by the inhabitants of a country, if tourists create too much traffic, the inhabitants become annoyed and unhappy. They forget how much tourism can help the country's economy. It is important to think about the people of a destination country and how tourism affects them. Tourism should also advance the well-being of local inhabitants.

Too much tourism can be a problem. If tourism grows too quickly, people must leave other jobs to work in the tourism industry. This means that other parts of the country's economy can suffer.

On the other hand, if there is not enough tourism, people can lose jobs. Businesses can also lose money. It costs a great deal of money to build large hotels, airports, air terminals, first-class roads, and other support facilities (设施) needed by tourist attraction. For example, a major international-class tourism hotel can cost as much as 50 000 dollars per room to build. If this room is.
