<<何振梁与中国奥林匹克梦>>

内容概要

This book was written by He Zhenliang's wife Liang Lijuan, a senior journalist from the People's Daily. He Zhenliang, known as China's Mr. Olympics, is the honorary president of the Chinese Olympic Committee, former vice-president of the International Olympic Committee and former Deputy Minister of the State Sport Commission of China, the predecessor of the General Administration of Sport. This book is a memoir of his personal life stories and diplomatic experiences in the sports field. It gives accurate and detailed depictions of the inside stories of a number of significant events in China's history of sports dealing with the outside world, including opposition to "two Chinas" in international sports organizations in the 1950s, the founding of the Games of the Newly Emerging Forces (GANEFU) in the 1960s, restoration of China's legitimate seat on the International Olympic Committee in the 1970s, the 1990 Beijing 11th Asian Games, and Beijing's bids for the 2000 and 2008 Olympic Games. The story of the breaking down of barriers to sports exchanges across the Taiwan Straits is particularly fascinating. Liang Lijuan, from Guangdong Province, joined the student movement in Shanghai during her school years. After the founding of the People's Republic of China in 1949, she was engaged in youth movement for many years. Later, Liang became a journalist and editor at the People's Daily, China's most influential newspaper, and was once head of the newspaper's UK bureau. She reported on a wide range of subjects, and continued to write even after her retirement in 1986. Liang has participated in Beijing's two bids for the Olympics. Her publications include Closing Ceremonies (translation), Olympic Revolution- The Biography of Juan Antonio Samaranch, (translation), The UK Looking from Inside - True Experiences of a Female Chinese Journalist, University of Cambridge, Collected Works of a Slow Bird, and A Century of the International Olympic Committee (translation), etc.
