章节摘录

I found Armand in bed . On seeing me he held out a burning hand . “ You are feverish, ” I said to him . “ It is nothing, the fatigue of a rapid journey ; that is all . ” “ You have been to see Marguerite ’ S sister? ” “ Yes ; who told you? ” “ I knew it . Did you get what you wanted? ” “ Yes ; but who told you of my journey, and of my reason for taking it? ” “ The gardener of the cemetery . ” “ You have seen the tomb? ” I scarcely dared reply, for the tone in which the words were spoken proved to me that the speaker was still possessed by the emotion which I had witnessed before, and that every time his thoughts or speech travelled back to that mournful subject emotion would still, for a long time to come, prove stronger than his will . I contented myself with a nod of the head . “ He has looked after it well? ” continued Armand . Two big tears rolled down the cheeks of the sick man, and he turned away his head to hide them from me . I pretended not to see them, and tried to change the conversation . “ You have been away three weeks, ” I said . Armand passed his hand across his eyes and replied , “ Exactly three weeks . ” “ You had a long journey . ” “ Oh, I was not travelling all the time . I was ill for a fortnight or I should have returned long ago ; but I had scarcely got there when I took this fever, and I was obliged to keep my room . ” “ And you started to come back before you were really well? ” “ If I had remained in the place for another week, I should have died there . ” “ Well, now you are back again, you must take care of yourself ; your friends will come and look after you ; myself, first of all, if you will allow me . ” “ I shall get up in a couple of hours . ” “ It would be very unwise . ” “ I must . ” “ What have you to do in such a great hurry? ” “ I must go to the inspector of police . ” “ Why do you not get one of your friends to see after the matter? It is likely to make you worse than you are now . ” “ It is my only chance of getting better . I must see her . Ever since I heard of her death, especially since I saw her grave, I have not been able to sleep . I can not realize that this woman, so young and so beautiful when I left her, is really dead . I must convince myself of it . I must see what God has done with a being that I have loved so much, and perhaps the horror of the sight will cure me of my despair . Will you accompany me, if it won't be troubling you too much? ” “ What did her sister say about it? ” “ Nothing . She seemed greatly surprised that a stranger wanted to buy a plot of ground and give Marguerite a new grave, and she immediately signed the authorization that I asked her for . ” “ Believe me , it would be better to wait until you are quite well . ” “ Have no fear ; I shall be quite composed . Besides , I should simply go out of my mind if I were not to carry out a resolution which I have set myself to carry out . I swear to you that I shall never be myself again until I have seen Marguerite . It is perhaps the thirst of the fever, a sleepless night ’ S dream, a moment's delirium ; but though I were to become a Trappist, like M . de Rance, after having seen, I will see . ” “ I understand , ” I said to Armand , “ and I am at your service . Have you seen Julie Duprat? ” “ Yes , I saw her the day I returned, for the first time . ” “ Did she give you the papers that Marguerite had left for you? ” Armand drew a roll of papers from under his pillow, and immediately put them back . “ I know all that is in these papers by heart, ” he said . “ For three weeks I have read them ten times over every day . You shall read them, too, but later on, when I am calmer and can make you understand all the love and tenderness hidden away in this confession . For the moment I want you to do me a service . ” “ What is it? ” “ Your Cab is below? ” “ Yes . ” “ Well, will you take my passport and ask if there are any letters for me at the poste restante? My father and sister must have written to me at Paris , and I went away in such haste that I did not go and see before leaving . When you come back we will go together to the inspector of police, and arrange for to-morrow ’ S ceremony . ” Armand handed me his passport, and I went to Rue Jean Jacques Rousseau . There were two letters addressed to Duval . I took them and returned . When I re-entered the room Armand was dressed and ready to go out .
