前言

Social progress lies in exchanges , as does the development of cultures as well as personal friendships . It has been proven through world historical practice that the achievement of cultural prosperity and social progress in the 21 “ century depends on mutual understanding and exchange . Thanks to the rapid development of transport and communications , mutual exchanges are becoming increasingly frequent day by day , but at the same time new problems have emerged under new circumstances . Human culture can be divided into two levels . The surface level , Or “ living culture , ” which involves all aspects of survival such as eating , drinking and clothing , has been universally propagated . Through fusion , integration and imitation of each other , living culture has played the role of deepening friendship and enhancing mutual understanding among different peoples .

内容概要

This is a complete translation of Liu's Commentaries of History (Lu Shi Chun Qiu), an ancient classic compiled in 239 B.C. by Lu Buwei, the Prime Minister of the state of Qin, who collected and arranged the writings of his "house guests" or followers into a book. The writings represented his ideas and aimed to serve as a guide to government for the Qin ruler. Dealing with a wide range of subjects in more than 20(3,000 words, the book is one of the longest of the early Chinese classics and an encyclopedic compendium of early Chinese thought and civilization.

章节摘录

Philistine rulers who did not control their sentiments appropriately perished in rapid succession . Because the desires of their ears , eyes and mouth could not be satisfied , their bodies sweated , their muscles hardened . their blood circulation was blocked and their nine openings ” were depleted and could not function normally . Even if Peng Zu “ were alive , he would have been powerless to save them . With regard to material things , the philistine rulers always sought after things that could not be obtained and nursed desires that could not be satisfied . In doing so , they totally destroyed the foundation of life . caused people to become dissatisfied and complain , and made formidable enemies . They were willful , changeable and constantly wavering ; they flaunted their powers , played tricks and were crafty at heart ; they were slow in practising virtue and righteousness and quick in doing evil and seeking selfish gains . Even though they became remorseful when they found themselves in a woeful predicament , it was too late . They were close to the crafty ones and alienated themselves from those who were upright , and thus brought their countries to a dangerous situation . When they became remorseful of their past mistakes . there was already no way to save them . They became alarmed when they were told about the situation , but still did not know what had caused it .

The book Lus Commentaries of History was compiled by Ln Buwei , the Prime Minister of the state of Qin , near the end of the Warring States Period(475-221 B . C . ) , a period of chaotic wars between rival states . As the state of Qin was growing increasingly more powerful and had won many victorious battles against other states , it became clear that the whole country was about to be unified under the Qin empire . The purpose of compiling the book was to provide a guide to government for the future Qin ruler . It was a period when the Confucian , Taoist , Moist and Legalist schools of thought prevailed . But instead of following any particular school of thought , Ln adopted what was useful and rejected what was harmful from the various schools of thought . AS the book contains a wealth of political and philosophical ideas as well as writings concerning moral standards , human conduct , cultural undertakings , science , astronomy , calendar-making . medicine , agriculture and other subjects , it provides important materials for the study of the history of that period.
