内容概要

《我们中国人(2011)》(英文版)由华文等著。

《我们中国人(2011)》(英文版)内容如下：The Communist Party of China celebrated its 90th birthday on July 1,2011. Through 90 years of tremendous changes, China has transformed itself from a poor and weak country into a powerful country in the East. China's pace of development has startled the world. This is the result of continuous exploration of the Chinese people under the leadership of the Communist Party of China. From 2010 through the first half of 2011, we chose 20 Chinese people and recorded their glory and dreams, laughter and tears in this book. They cannot represent all Chinese people, but in this year, the events they have experienced, what they thought, and what they did attracted media attention.

章节摘录

版权页：插图：One day in 1994, GUO Mingyi watched a television clip about the Project Hope office of Anshan Municipal Youth League Committee. The Committee was soliciting donations for students who would be forced to leave school because of lack of funds. The desire in the eyes of the children on the TV screen deeply touched him. The next day, he donated 200 yuan to children who were unable to go to school in the mountainous areas of Xiuyan County. Ten days later, he mailed another 200 yuan. At that time, he and his wife's combined monthly salary was less than 600 yuan. "The family was already poor. If the children do not receive an education, they will most likely remain poor generation after generation. That will not do." Since then, GUO Mingyi has not stopped making donations to schools. Gradually, the students he has sponsored have increased from several to a dozen, then from over a dozen to more than 300 in total. As a rank-and-file technical leader, GUO Mingyi's salary is not high. In order to help more poor students who are in need, he has spent almost all his money: in addition to the minimum salary that he uses to support his own family, he has donated all his subsidies, bonuses and relief funds. He has also given 3 bikes, 3 TV sets and one computer to poor children.
