内容概要

This is the Proceedings of IRNOP VII Project Research Conference. IRNOP-the International Research Network on Organizing by Projects-was founded in 1993 as a loosely coupled network of researchers in countries all over the world. The IRNOP network connects scholars with a background in business, economics, engineering and other fields, with a common interest in projects, project organizations and temporary systems. IRNOP VII publish research papers addressing issues within the broad project management and project organization field. This includes both narrow analysis of project management practices as well as broader reflections on the impact of projects on for example corporate management or corporate networks. Topics as well as broader reflections on the impact of projects on for example corporate management or corporate networks. Topics as Enterprise Project management, Managing mega-projects and project dynamics are more focused on for IRNOP VIII.
