章节摘录

版权页： Financial and investment cooperation expanded. In 2011, the EU had 1,743 direct investment projects in China, with paid-in capital of US$6.35 billion. In March, a workshop on the international monetary system was held in Nanjing, China at the initiative of France, the Chair of the G20. Vice Premier Wang Qishan and French President Nicolas Sarkozy attended the opening ceremony of the workshop. China and Germany signed an MOU on enhancing economic and financial cooperation and the first China-Germany Financial Stability Forum was successfully held. China signed agreements or MOUs with Greece, Montenegro and other countries on enhancing cooperation in infrastructure building. China signed or amended agreements with the UK, Latvia and other countries on avoiding double taxation. ICBC Madrid branch officially opened, making ICBC the first Chinese bank to operate in Spain. The China Development Bank signed cooperation agreements or MOUs with Ireland, Sweden and Cyprus, and continued to provide financing support to Greek shipowners in purchasing ships from China. Chinese and European companies reached agreement on a host of cooperation projects. The China MNMETALS Corporation and the KGHM Polska Miedz S.A. signed the frame contract for copper cathodes from 2012 to 2016. People-to-people and cultural exchanges became more active. 2011 was the "China-EU Year of Youth Exchange", the first theme year as well as the largest cultural event jointly held by the two sides since China and EU established diplomatic ties. Over 10,000 young people from China and European countries took part in the event in person and 160,000 people joined the exchanges through new media. The event had a far-reaching and positive impact. The first China-EU People-to-People Dialogue on Friendship and Cooperation was held in Beijing and Tianjin. Vice Premier Li Keqiang attended the opening ceremony and delivered a speech. The Tianjin Consensus was adopted at the dialogue. China and the UK announced their decision to set up a high-level people-to-people dialogue mechanism, the first of its kind between China and an EU member state. The Year of Chinese Language in France and the Year of French language in China, the Year of Chinese Language in Spain, the Chinese Cultural Year in Italy, the Chinese Cultural Festival in Poland, the second EU-China High-level Cultural Forum and the 4th European-Chinese Cultural Dialogue were successfully held. The Chinese Spring Festival Cultural Programs were held in several European countries and were well received. The CCTV English News Channel was launched in Malta, and the China Radio International and the Bulgarian National Radio established cooperative relations, which was the first remote cooperative relationship between central media organizations of the two countries.
