作者简介

Shu Ting began writing in 1969 when she was seventeen. Her poem "My Homeland, My Dear Homeland" (1979) won instant fame when it was honored with the prestigious National Poetry Award. Her books include The Double-Masted Boat and The Flowers That Sing. Shu has described her own work as "poems that are imbued with both a profound pain and a wakening joy. . . . They are not only the love songs to my country but also the praise of love and friendship." Her poems have often been admired for their subtle and delicate style and refined diction and profundity. Shu Ting is perhaps one of the most popular poets of her time.
