章节摘录

A stepparent is another adult whos looking out for you, so its best to give him or her the same level of respect you give your own parents, coach, or teacher at school. What should be done if you cant get along well with her even if you have tried ?

Could it be the fact that someone else is taking away some of your dads attention ?

If something is bothering you, it helps to figure out exactly where the problem is happening, and speak up. Its not easy sharing your parent and your home with a stepparent. It can be even harder if your stepparent has children, and you have stepsiblings now, too !

Dont be afraid to let your morn or dad know that you miss spending time with him or her alone. Its also a good idea to have a family meeting to hash out any problems. Maybe you can come up with a schedule for sharing the TV. Better yet, maybe the family can do something other than watch TV, like play a game together. But if you just cant seem to get along with your stepparent no matter what, its time for a major heart-to-heart with your parent, and maybe your stepparent, too. Youd better not say "I cant stand her !

" or "Hes ruining my life !

" This will only hurt their feelings and will not make anything better. Instead, explain why youre upset with your stepparent. Be specific about what the problems are and why you feel so angry.
