<<西藏民俗>>

内容概要

The Tibetan Plateau is surrounded by continuous stretches of snow-capped mountains. It is in this part of the world the Tibetans have lived and multiplied for generations. With the shared history, culture, nature, religion, and beliefs, they have built up a variety of folkways, rituals, recreations, art forms and festivals. We call these collectively the tibetan folklore, which has long been amazed and researched by people both at home and abroad, especially by the ethnologists, experts on folklores, sociologists, cultural anthropologists and Tibetologists.
