<<SHARING THE FRUITS O>>

前言

People's livelihood is a basic issue in the survival and development of human society , as well as a fundamental issue in governing a country. With the growth of the economic strength and adjustment of social interest structure in China , especially the putting forth of the concept putting people first and the theory building a harmonious society , it has become an important theme in China today to attach importance to and improve people's livelihood. "To meet the desire of people for a happy life is our mission , " General Secretary Xi Jinping pointed out in his speech when the newly elected members of the Standing Committee of Political Bureau of the Communist Party of China met with the press on Nov. 15 , 2012 , "Our people have an ardent love for life. They wish to have better education , more stable jobs , more income , greater social security , better medical and health care , improved housing conditions , and a better environment. They want their children to have sound growth , have good jobs and lead a more enjoyable life." In "The Goal of Completing the Building of a Moderately Prosperous Society in All Respects and Deepening Reform and Opening Up in an All-Around Way" in the report at the 18th National Congress of the CPC , it is proposed that "Living standards should be fully raised , " and it covers the following: "Equal access to basic public services should be generally achieved. The educational level of the entire population should be significantly raised and training of innovative professionals markedly improved. China should have a large pool of competent professionals and be rich in human resources , and it should basically modernize its education. There should be more employment opportunities. Income gaps should be narrowed , middle-income groups should keep growing , and the number of people living below the poverty line should drop by a large margin. Social security should cover all the people. Everyone should have access to basic medical and public health services. The system of housing for low-income groups should take shape , and there should be social harmony and stability."
