This book is based on experiences in the classroom and lessons taught (& learned) in China. You'll never hear me say that my ideas are better than someone else's !

I just know what works; and I have tried to find scientific evidence for empirical findings whenever possible. I would like to thank the Beijing Jiaotong University Press for the opportunity to publish this book; Zhou Honghong for adding her part and her ongoing kindness support; professor Dean Luther for proofreading the manuscript; my students for helping me to understand and grow; the schools and places I have taught along this path; my friends , finally my family , who inspire me to do and be more. —Reid E. Thompson Hello , My friends , Let's learn and have fun in the courses and you might wonder at how good your English is in the end.
