章节摘录

版权页 : My family have been prominent, well-to-do people in this Middle Western city for three generations. The Carras are something of a clan, and we have a tradition that we're descended from the Dukes of Buccleuch, but the actual founder of my line was my grandfather's brother, who came here in fifty-one, sent a substitute to the Civil War, and started the wholesale hardware business that my father came on to-day..I never saw this great-uncle, but I'm supposed to look like him with special reference to the rather hard-boiled painting that hangs in father's office. I graduated from New Haven in 1915, just a quarter of a century after my father, and a little later I participated in that delayed Teutonic migration known as the Great War. I enjoyed the counterraid so thoroughly that I came back redoubled. Instead of being the warm center of the world, the Middle West now seemed like the ragged edge of the universe - so I decided to go East and learn the bond business.
