章节摘录

Three friends decided to sail around the world on a small yacht. They loaded it with food and water and set off. They traveled to many beautiful places , and were having a wonderful time. But one day , when they had been at sea for about a month , a fierce storm blew up. Great waves crashed down on their little yacht.

The mast broke and the yacht was soon thrown against some rocks near a deserted island. The three friends were able to struggle to the island , taking with them as much food as they could carry. Not a tree , not a bush , not a flower grew on the island. There was not an animal of any kind , not even a bird or an insect.

For a few weeks the three men were able to live on the food they had saved , but at last everything was gone-except for one piece of bread. They decided that whoever had the best dream the next night could have the bread.
