章节摘录

Claude Monet was born in 1840 in Paris. When he was five, his family moved to a place on the coast where he spent a lot of time on the beaches. It was here that he started to understand nature. As a boy he was good at drawing caricatures (漫画) and showed them to his friends and family. He even sold some of them. But at the age of 18, his style changed when he made friends with Eugene Boudin, who encouraged him to paint out of doors. This is when his life as a painter began. His family was angry that he refused to go to art school. Instead, Monet worked with other artists in their studios (画室) in Paris. In 1862, he became part of a group of impressionist (印象派) painters. During the 1860s, he sold almost no paintings but this didn't stop him painting even he always had problems with money. Monet married his first wife in 1870 and had two sons. His second wife, Alice, had six children who lived with her, Monet and Monet's two children. After moving house several times, Monet bought a house for his large family in a small village called Giverny in 1883. He enjoyed the place and it became his home for the rest of his life. He made a beautiful garden there and painted over 500 of his greatest paintings. "One of them was the Water Lilies (《睡莲》), painted between 1916 and 1926. Monet kept painting until a few months before his death in December 1926.
