章节摘录

阅读短文, 根据短文内容判断正(T)误(F)。

The Sparks family moved from New York to Hawaii. Fred was not at all happy because his friends were all in New York. After they arrived at the island, Fred and his father and mother took a walk beside the sea. They climbed a hill and saw a little house. It was under a very large, very old tree. "No one lives here," said Mrs Sparks. "Let's look at the house." "The house is old and run-down (破烂不堪的)," she said. "But it is pretty. I like it. We can repair it. Let's buy it." On the first day in the new home they had a happy surprise. After a little rain, the sun came out. Then a rainbow (彩虹) showed its bright colours. "Look!" said Mrs Sparks. "The rainbow seems to dance across the water. It dances right up to our front door!" "Here in the island it rains a little every day," said Mr Sparks. "We'll have a rainbow every day." After a few days, they had another nice surprise. People who lived nearby came to visit them. The visitors brought good food and they stayed to talk. Two girls did a dance called hula. Many girls in Hawaii know this dance. Fred wrote a letter to his friend Bob. The letter said, "This place is not bad, after all! Come and see me someday. I know you will like Hawaii, too." ( ) 1. Fred was happy about moving to Hawaii at the beginning. ( ) 2. The Sparks family bought an old house by the sea. ( ) 3. Rainbows can be seen every day because Hawaii is a beautiful island. ( ) 4. The people on the island are very friendly. ( ) 5. Bob came to the island and liked it very much.
