

<<什么是所有权?>>

图书基本信息

书名：<<什么是所有权?>>

13位ISBN编号：9787562023432

10位ISBN编号：7562023433

出版时间：2003-7

出版时间：中国政法大学出版社

作者：蒲鲁东

页数：225

版权说明：本站所提供下载的PDF图书仅提供预览和简介，请支持正版图书。

更多资源请访问：<http://www.tushu007.com>

<<什么是所有权?>>

内容概要

What is Property? is one of the most notorious and influential works of social criticism of the nineteenth century and certainly the best-known book by Pierre-Joseph Proudhon, revolutionary author and contemporary of Marx. Proudhon's short answer to this question "Property is theft" was even more notorious, linking private property as it did with the worst features of "bourgeois" political hegemony and exploitation. Yet because of the eagerness of later admirers to place Proudhon in one later tradition or another (socialist, utopian, anarchist, fascist, etc.) the intellectual qualities of his book have never been fully appreciated; nor has his critique of the institution of nineteenth-century political thought in general. This new translation, with a critical and historical introduction to these neglected aspects of Proudhon's "diabolical work" (as he called it), tries to do justice to the work of this subversive critic who himself, through his assault on the central institution of modern Western society, spent his whole life in quest of social justice.

<<什么是所有权?>>

书籍目录

IntroductionBibliographical noteChronologyWhat is Property?Preface1 Method followed in this work. Idea of a revolution2 Property considered as a natural right. Occupation and civil law as efficient causes of property
 1.Property as a natural right 2.Occupation as the basis of property 3.Civil law as the foundation and sanction of property3 Labour as the efficient cause of the domain of property 1.Land cannot be appropriated
 2.Universal consent does not justify property 3.Prescription never gives title to property 4.Labour. That labour by itself has no power to appropriate the things of nature 5.That labour leads to equality of property
 6.That in society all wages are equal 7.That the inequality of faculties is the necessary condition of equality of fortunes 8.That, in terms of justice,labour destroys property 4 That property is impossible Property is physically and mathematically impossible 1.Property is impossible because it demands something from nothing
 2.Property is impossible because wherever it exists, production costs more than it is worth 3.Property is impossible because with a given capital production is proportional to labour,not to property 4.Property is impossible because it is homicide 5.Property is impossible because with it society devours itself Appendix to the fifth proposition 6.Property is impossible because it is the mother of tyranny 7.Property is impossible because in consuming what it receives it loses it ,because in saving it nullifies it ,and because in using it as capital it turns it against production 8.Property is impossible because its power of ccumulation is infinite, while it is exercised only over finite quantities 9.property is impossible because it is powerless against property 10.Property is impossible because it is the negative of equality5 Psychological exposition of the idea of the just and the unjust and determination of the principle of government and right First part 1.Of the moral sense in man and in animals
 2.Of the first and second degrees of sociability 3.Of the third degree of sociabilitySecond part 1.Of the causes of errors. The origin of property 2.Characteristics of communism and of property 3.Determination of the third social form. ConclusionsNotesIndex

<<什么是所有权?>>

版权说明

本站所提供下载的PDF图书仅提供预览和简介，请支持正版图书。

更多资源请访问:<http://www.tushu007.com>