章节摘录

版权页： Part Assignment 1. Make your own presentation on related topics about MONEY. Use PPT or other visual aids if possible. 2. Dub the voices in MONEY NEVER SLEEPS: Bretton, Lou, Bill, and Jack.

BRETTON: I'd like to speak with you, Bill. Jack. And Lou. Separately. Thirty of our people have been through Keller Zabel books for the last three days. They still say it's impossible to get to the bottom of this. This could be a 10-billion dollar hole for us. Or it could be a 200-billion dollar hole and there's no way we can risk that money without a backstop from the Treasury or the Fed. LOU: You started this, didn't you, Bretton ?

BILL: I said knock it off, Lou. Or this meeting is over, you hear me ?

You're asking us to take a large risk here, Bretton. What are you offering ?

BRETTON: Under these conditions, and assuming you refine your guarantee, Jack, Julie and I, and our partners who have been consulted, are prepared to risk 2 $ a share. LOU: Two bucks ?

Jesus, you're out of your mind. The stock was trading at 79 $ a month ago. Our building alone is worth more than two bucks a share. JACK: Julie. If only we had more time, Lou. LOU: My board will never accept this. There is no way I'm gonna sell for two bucks a share. BILL: The government, if we guarantee this deal, could never justify a high price for your company. And if you don't sell, Lou, you are in bankruptcy. This is a public spectacle now. LOU: No, it's a public execution, and you'll be leading it, Bill. I built this company. BILL: And your exit will help restore faith in it. LOU: Who the hell are you to tell me to get out ?

BILL: You're out, Lou. One way or the other, you're out !

LOU: Then the hell with you !

I'll take my chances at bankruptcy court before I sell to that barracuda. BRETTON: Then we have nothing more to talk about. LOU: Six. BRETTON: Three, and that's it. If I can sell it to the board. LOU: Five. BRETTON: Three. LOU: All right. We'll call it an even four, so we don't look goddamn pathetic. BRETTON: Three. And not a dime more.
