<<问题与思考>>

内容概要

"Issues and Exploration: Past, Present and Future of China's Tourism Development" has collected Zhang Lingyun published essays over the past 10 years. These essays explored and analyzed the development of tourism in China. Although some of the issues concerned in the essays may no longer be as salient as they once were, the problems reviewed in the essays have affected China's recent tourism development and the input offered by tourism academics regarding their solution. And some of those problems have not yet to be resolved and await input from academic, non-experts and individuals with practical experience in China's tourism industry.

章节摘录

In 2005 , in the Speeches on the National Tourism Conference , Shao Qiwei pointed out that during the period of the 11'th Five-Year Plan (2006 - 2010) , the tourism industry should focus on promoting the institutional reform and innovation , with the aim of perfecting the entire tourism industrial system. He also said that institutional reform and the establishment of innovation mechanism innovation were essential to improving the tourism industry's overall quality. Specifically , it includes the following aspects : The first involved deepening the enterprises' reform and accelerating the cultivation of the tourism market. Efforts needed to be made to guide and support the involvement of different tourism enterprises under different ownership and in different industries in various countries in the reorganization , transformation , and restructuring of Chinese tourism firms. These measures were aimed at establishing a presence on the world market for Chinese tourism brands and the domestic strategic enterprise groups and also boost their competitiveness. The goal was to have China's tourism firms gradually evolve into market-oriented , famous brand , and internationalized enterprises. The second aspect was promoting the industrial reform and perfecting the management system of travel agencies and tour guides. During the period of cultivating the division system of the wholesalers and agents , the travel agency industry was to make breakthroughs in the tourism business market organization network and management coverage. The entry , incentive , security , and responsibility investigation system of the tour guides was to be established and developed. The third aspect was promoting the continuous improvement of the tourism market mechanism. The fair and sound security system and benefit distribution system among various components and links of the tourism industry was to be established and improved. The tourism administration was called upon to promote the standardization of the tourism market , the rationality of market division , and the establishment of the market order for competition to form the open , competitive , and orderly environment for the development of tourism.
