

<<实用针灸>>

图书基本信息

书名：<<实用针灸>>

13位ISBN编号：9787800051159

10位ISBN编号：7800051153

出版时间：1991-01

出版时间：新世界出版社

作者：耿俊英

版权说明：本站所提供下载的PDF图书仅提供预览和简介，请支持正版图书。

更多资源请访问：<http://www.tushu007.com>

<<实用针灸>>

内容概要

Introduction

Acupuncture and Moxibustion, one of the five books in the Practical Traditional Chinese Medicine and Pharmacology series, is intended to acupuncture practitioners and students. Instead of expounding largely and copiously on acupuncture theories and principles, we stressed in the book more on its practical value and applicability than theoretical explorations. It is mainly of our personal experiences accumulated from years of teaching and clinical practice.

The book is divided into three chapters. The first chapter introduces the most essential and practical techniques as well as the points which merit special attention in applying acupuncture treatments. The second chapter is devoted to the most commonly used acupoints.

With a view to practicability and convenience, we have not only explained the location, function, pathological indications of each point as almost all books on acupuncture do, but also provided detailed information on the main points to be combined with the current point in treating different types of diseases as well as point variations for the different syndromes of the same disease. Notes are made also to the needling method for each point. The third chapter deals with acupuncture treatments of common diseases. Again in order to make the book more practical and convenient for clinical use, we did not follow the conventional practice of merely mentioning the syndromes and listing the points. Instead we first differentiated each case to determine the nature of its syndrome type as a doctor of traditional Chinese medicine would have done in the clinic. That is to determine whether the syndromes are of the yin, yang, xu, or shi type. Then different methods as well as their purpose and functions are suggested for each type. We personally used all these treatments and found them very effective. In fact, so wonderfully effective are some of the methods that the patients thought we had played magic on them. Case studies are given to the specially effective cases.

We sincerely hope it will be of help to those who work in this field.

<<实用针灸>>

作者简介

Dr. Geng Junying brings over twenty-five years of experience to this, his most recent work on traditional Chinese medicine. Dr. Geng is an Associate Professor and the Deputy Director of the Acupuncture Department at the Beijing College of Traditional Chinese Medicine. He has spent virtually his entire career at this prestigious college, where he has been teaching, researching, and conducting clinical practice since his graduation in 1964. His publications in Chinese include Studies of the Five Tastes of Herbs, Contraindications and Interdependence in Herbal Formulas, and Chinese Moxibustion Therapy. In English, he has co-authored four volumes in this five-volume series—Basic Theories and Principles, Acupuncture and Moxibustion, Medicinal Herbs and Herbal Formulas.

<<实用针灸>>

书籍目录

Preface

Introduction

Chapter

ACUPUNCTURE AND MOXIBUSTION

Section One

Acupuncture Needling Techniques

1. The Needles

2. Preparations

3. Manipulation of the Filiform Needle

Section Two

Moxibustion

Chapter

ACUPUNCTURE POINTS

Section One

The Classification of Acupuncture Points

Section Two

The Location and Measurement of Acupuncture Points

Section Three

The Commonly Used Acupuncture Points

1. Points of the Lung Channel of Hand-Taiyin

2. Points of the Large Intestine Channel of Hand-Yangming

3. Points of the Stomach Channel of Foot-Yangming

4. Points of the Spleen Channel of Foot-Taiyin

5. Points of the Heart Channel of Hand-Shaoyin

6. Points of the Small Intestine Channel of Hand-Taiyang

7. Points of the Urinary Bladder Channel of Foot-Taiyang

8. Points of the Kidney Channel of Foot-Shaoyin

9. Points of the Pericardium Channel of Hand-Jueyin

10. Points of the Sanjiao Channel of Hand-Shaoyang

11. Points of the Gall Bladder Channel of Foot-Shaoyang

12. Points of the Liver Channel of Foot-Jueyin

13. Points of Ren Channel

14. Points of Du Channel

15. Off-Channel Points or Extraordinary Points

Chapter III

TREATMENT OF COMMON DISEASES

WITH ACUPUNCTURE AND MOXIBUSTION

Section One

General Introduction to Acupuncture Treatment

1. The Basic Principle of Acupuncture Treatment

2. The Principles of Selecting Points

3. The Basic Principles of Prescription and Combination of Points

4. The Application of Specific Points

Section Two

Acupuncture Treatment for Common Diseases and

<<实用针灸>>

Symptoms

1. Wind-stroke
2. Sunstrokc
3. Shock
4. The Common Cold
5. SoreThroat
6. Chronic Pharyngolaryngitis
7. Asthma
8. Headache
9. Toothache
10. Trigeminal Neuralgia
11. LowBackPain
12. Chest and Hypochondriac Pain
13. ShoulderPain
14. StiffNeck
15. TennisElbow
16. HeelPain
17. Vomiting
18. Hiccup
19. Epigastric Pain
20. Abdominal Pain
21. Diarrhea
22. Dysentery
23. Constipation
24. ProlapseofAnus
25. Seminal Emission
26. Impotence
27. Dizziness and Vertigo
28. Deafness and Tinnitus
29. Insomnia
30. Palpitation
31. Angina Pectoris
32. Hypertension
33. Facial Paralysis
34. Bi Symptom-Complex (Appendix: Sciatica)
35. Wei Symptom-Complex (Appendix: Polyneuritis)
36. Dysmenorrhea
37. Amenorrhea
38. Symptom-Complex Before and After Menopause
39. Uterine Bleeding
40. Excessive Leukorrhea
41. Hysteria
42. Urticaria
43. Alopecia

Appendix

- Pourteen Channels and Their Acupuncture Points
A Glossary of the Acupuncture Points

<<实用针灸>>

版权说明

本站所提供下载的PDF图书仅提供预览和简介，请支持正版图书。

更多资源请访问:<http://www.tushu007.com>