章节摘录

插图：Shanghai is a cosmopolitan city and it is necessary to have Christian Church and Catholic Church. There are over 300 Christian clergy and more than 160 registered Christian Churches in Shanghai. In the later period of 18th century, various religious sects of Europe and America had set up missionary organization to missionize overseas. In 1843, Walter Henry Medhurst, a missionary of London Missionary Society, and some others were among the earliest to arrive in Shanghai. They had set up church, hospital, printing office, as well as houses in Shanghai. Afterwards, various religious sects, such as Anglicanism and Protestant Episcopal Church, come to Shanghai to build churches and do missionary work. In 1903, Charlie Soong, together with other 12 people, initially set up Chinese Christian Association and it developed gradually. At present, there are over a hundred thousand of disciples. There are now nearly hundred of Catholic churches, over 100 clergy and more than 140,000 adherents in Shanghai. Catholicism was introduced into Shanghai area in Ming Dynasty. In 1608, Xu Guangqi of Ming Dynasty invited Italy missionary Lauzaro Cameo to Shanghai to do missionary work. The first church in Shanghai was then built and Xu's family members, kith and kin, altogether more than 200 people, received baptism and converted religion. After more than 400 years of development, the Catholic community in Shanghai has carried out amicable association with overseas Catholic community constantly. Shanghai Catholic Church has also entertained a lot of famous overseas religion leaders. Famous Protestant Churches in Shanghai are Shanghai Community Church, All Saint's Church, Muen Church, Huaien Church, etc. Catholic Churches in Shanghai are Xujiahui Catholic Cathedral, Dongjiadu Catholic Church, St Joseph's Catholic Church, Sheshan Mount Catholic Church, etc.
