章节摘录

Many people believe that it is good for middle school students to go abroad for further education. They think that foreign universities can provide better and advanced facilities and teaching methods. However, other people don't agree with the idea of sending children to study abroad. They say that quite a number of overseas students didn't get what they hoped for. When they meet with difficulties in a foreign country, they have nobody to ask for help. They lack the capability to solve the problems and sometimes they can't tell right from wrong.
